This item is printed on demand - Print on Demand Neuware - Essay from the year 2012 in the subject Politics - International Politics - Topic: Public International Law and Human Rights, grade: 74 %, Hull University Business School (Law School), course: Human Rights Violations, language: English, comment: 'An intellectually ambitious approach to the question drawing on a wide range of appropriate reading. Well referenced.' , abstract: QUESTION:Although the use of violence by and against states displays many features that are specific to particular cultures and situations, there is an underlying logic of violence that takes a remarkably similar form in a multitude of different contexts.ABSTRACT:For the question at hand a very complex question it seems of paramount importance to disentangle its individual components before discovering its coherences. (.) I shall proceed as follows: First, I will present my understanding of logic the underlying current giving this paper its direction and drive. Still in the first part, I shall introduce and define various forms of large-scale violence to be kept inside the epistemological frame of this essay. Secondly, this paper will elaborate on the doer behind the deed . I shall introduce the philosophical traditions and formal features of contemporary states, laying the ground for the contemplation of violence by and against states, government-sponsored and stateperpetratedcrime. Furthermore, to shed light on the ramifications of violence between the so called First and Third World and in order to provide a link between the general and the specific, this paper would expose the international involvement in criminal structures and violent agency. Drawing on the recurrent narratives and forms of violence discussed in the first two parts, the third section will deepen the dynamics of structures and resources that resurface in...
